

STAND 6 L 081

Robotized cells ARIFIT correspond perfectly to current developments of packaging market, based on frequent changes in packaging, an advanced customization and an upgrading of products. This involves an increased request in highly flexible end of line equipments, with short size changeovers and a large versatility, all in the smallest possible footprints.

They prefigure technological progress in packing solutions being designed at the moment within TECMA ARIES Group and which will be launched on the market soon.